Our experienced team of writers, editors, research analysts and producers deliver independent coverage about the global edge of the Internet infrastructure market and ecosystem.

The next Internet evolution is upon us and EdgeIR.com is at the forefront with insightful and targeted news, opinions, research and commentary since January, 2020.

We will cover the debates that are occurring and explain the implications for the network, data center, cloud, platform, software and hardware providers as well as the investors and people that are building new edge services and devices. We will also address the overall ecosystem including but not limited to: IoT, IIoT, AI, ML, 5G and more. As part of the discussion, we will also present the viewpoints of the thought leaders in the Edge Ecosystem.

We will deliver high quality organic traffic and products for our advertisers and sponsors. We pride ourselves in being nimble and responsive to their needs and work hard to help them accomplish their marketing goals.
